Our planet : before and after the industrialization

Compared to the past , our planet, because of us is very damaged . This picture shows the destruction of our planet . Al Gore , former vice-president of USA now make documentaries on the planet to makes people react : his movie "une suite qui dérange" shows the consequences of the industrialization . According to me , our planet is doomed to disappear because of pollution , global warming, greenhaus effect , climate change and threatens our environment .

Since 1973 , WORLD WILDLIFE FUND FOR NATURE (WWF) is fighting to save endangered species and protect flora . Moreover , the ice disappears because of global warming and pollution, polar bear are doomed to die. Moreover, turtles and dolphins eat plastic bags thinking they are jellyfish. Similarly, Yann Arthus-Bertrand, pointing out for 20 years consequences of environmental issues : houses were destroyed in 1999 by the big storm again in 2015, if it's not enough for you, remember , in 2016 floods damaged a lot of cities, many people had lost everything and today, it's start again.

J'ai vue la beauté de la Terre mais aussi sa fragilité . La Terre est vraiment un joyau fragile.' said Thomas Pesquet , the french spationaute .

Indeed ,while 6 months , our spationaute has noted, from space , the destruction of the Earth and more precisely the melting ice , the drought and deforestation .He has written 3 books called : "Terre (s) " .

Humans have become aware and try to save the Earth

Maybe it's not too late : indeed , humans develop ecological systems like :wind turbines , solar panels , electric transports , electric cars , plastic bags have been forbidden for saving some species .

For million years , Gaïa , the blue planet , gives to humans a house , food , water ...but will this dream more many time ??
