THE

GLOBAL WARMING

Due to global warming, ocean levels have risen by 10 centimeters in 50 years. COP21 has set it self the goal of ensuring that the temperature of the Earth does not increase more than 2 degrees. If we do not change our way of life as long as we are still there, we risk making the Earth a hostile place to live. We must change our way of life if we do not want the Earth to be unlivable for our children. We must react quickly and change all that before it is too late.

We must avoid using the fossil fuels we have left. Prefer public transport to the car. Try to use more renewable energy like water, the sun, the wind that will never miss unlike oil whose men are finishing the last few liters. Simple everyday actions like turning off the light when you're out of the room or not letting the water run for too long can help keep the Earth in good health.

There is a relation between the global warming and the greenhouse gas like methane or carbonic acid gas. Most people use a car to go to their jobs. The people will can use carpool to go to their office. I think that the carpooling or the public transport are a good alternative. They produce a far less pollution due to it on one vehicule transport more people and the public transport use electricity.
